

Women Deliver 2010, a global conference to be held in Washington DC on June 7-9, will focus on the theme: Delivering solutions for girls and women. The conference will further prove that maternal and reproductive health needs to be a global priority, and it will move the dialogue to the global arena with two strong messages:

The Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) will not be achieved without investing in women.

There is just enough time, if the world commits funding now, to achieve MDG5.

Women Deliver is committed to making this conference accessible to individuals from the 68 priority countries being tracked by Countdown 2015. Women Deliver will offer full conference scholarships to selected candidates.

Priority will be given to applicants who meet one or more of these criteria:

+A current resident and national of a country on this list of 68 priority countries

Working in the health and development field, with a focus on women's health, education, labor, and/or rights, either on a professional or volunteer basis

+A youth participant (below the age of 30 years)

PLEASE NOTE: To be eligible for this scholarship, Women Deliver must receive your completed application online on or before the deadline of December 15, 2009.

Scholarship Awards

Scholarship recipients will be notified via email no later than February 15, 2010. If a scholarship recipient cannot accept the award, they are required to notify the conference planner as soon as possible. Scholarships are NOT transferable. Applicant must be present during the entire period of the conference.

Scholarships will cover: Conference registration, roundtrip airfare, visa fees, hotel stay, and a stipend for incidentals and meals.

The primary language of the conference is English. Translation (French and Spanish) will be available for the plenary sessions.

In order to complete the registration process, applicants from outside of the United States will need to provide passport information. Please have these documents available before you begin.
